PETITIONS FILED FOR SCHOOL CANDIDATES

Four Prominent Citizens Offer Ticket As Protest Against Board's Tax Raise

As a protest on the part of taxpayers of Richmond against the action of the present City Board of Education in raising the school tax rate to $1.35, when the board members had given their signed promise not to raise it over 90c on the $100 of property, papers have been filed placing the names of four prominent citizens on the election ballot against the four members of the present board who are seeking re-election.

The four who are offered as candidates for the people are Henry B. Cosby, J. Hale Dean, Miss Lucia Burman and William S. Broadbent. All are citizens of the highest standing and taxpayers. Their friends feel that they may be relied upon to give the school interests of Richmond efficient and progressive management, yet with economical business methods. Their friends are further confident that they may be completely trusted at all times to realize the sanctity and importance of any promise they may make to the taxpayers in their official capacities, if they are elected.

Friends of these candidates of this "ticket" confidently expect that if they are elected they will secure a substantial reduction in the school tax rate, which was raised to $1.35 by the present board.

The four members of the present board who are seeking re-election and therefore asking endorsement of their official record are John Noland, J. C. Chenault, D. B. McKinney and Mrs. Ada B. Dunn. All are prominent and well known citizens with many personal friends.

Stalactites Give Off Music in Big New Cave

Wilmore, Oct. 24.—A second excursion was made into the newly-discovered cave on the Jake Corman farm by Logan Corman, John Khorer and Fred Wardlow, who advanced four miles without evidence that the end was nearer than when they entered. Dynamite is being used to enlarge the narrow entrance. Stalactites and stalagmites abound, and in one chamber the stalactites give forth musical sounds like from a giant tuning fork. The cavern follows a stream which disappears over a deep declivity near the entrance. Arrangements are being made for a complete exploration, and the excited community believes that a natural wonder rivaling Mammoth Cave is a possibility.

Mary Garden Concert Postponed

Owing to her inability to reach this country from abroad before the middle of November, the second concert of the artist series scheduled for Woodland Park Auditorium, Lexington, the night of November 1, has been postponed. Miss Garden has been ill and has been forbidden by her physician to sail from abroad before November 4. A Lexington engagement will probably be made for her between November 29th and December 22. The next concert of the series will be that of Albert Spalding, violinist, which will take place Tuesday evening, November 21.

CLAIMS SHE SAW DOUBLE KILLING

(By Associated Press)
New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 24.—The name of a woman reputed to have witnessed the double murder of Rev. Edward Hall and his choir singer, Mrs. Eleanor Mills, became known today. She is Mrs. Ann Gibson, who conducts a farm several miles from here. She said she was looking for persons who pilfered her crops at night on the night of the murder and says she saw two men and two women in the field. She became curious and halted. After a moment of loud talking she heard a pistol shot and saw a streak of flame. One of the men fell. A moment later she heard four more shots and a woman dropped. A man and a woman stood over the slain couple, the story continued, and the name of the man was spoken with horror by the woman. Mrs. Gibson fled, frightened.

L. & N. GUARDS ARE ATTACKED AT CORBIN

(By Associated Press)
Louisville, Ky., Oct. 24.—Two Louisville and Nashville railroad guards were attacked at Corbin last night, one of them shot and the other beaten into insensibility by a party of ten men, according to information received at the office of the railroad here today. One guard, Elias Paige, was brought to a hospital here today with a number of buckshot in his body. The other guard, John Duff, was maltreated. It is said here the two men were walking their beats in the railroad yards when suddenly they were confronted by ten men armed with shotguns. Paige ran and was shot. Duff could not break away and was set upon.

SIMPSON PREACHES TO LUNCHEON CLUBS

Sermon To Rotarians And Exchangeites Feature Of Disciples' Revival Monday

One of the interesting features of the meeting at the First Christian Church Monday night was the singing of the members of the Exchange and Rotary Men's Luncheon Clubs. It is probably not well known in the community that the first duties of the members of these clubs is to be able to sing and the feature of song in their weekly meetings fitted them to surprise the big audience Monday night when called upon by Miss White to sing.

The service was largely attended and sustained the same high interest of the great services on Sunday. Dr. Simpson spoke on "Lift Up Your Eyes." The sermon contained a searching appeal for progress in the community's life and for the better things in the world.

He congratulated the men of the clubs upon the forward step for Richmond indicated in their organization and for the new day of progress dawning in the community when men organize themselves into such clubs. He said that while there must be a wholesome reverence for the past that the spirit of the pioneers of yesterday can be preserved only in the progress of today, and that no community can be worthy of the present day which lives simply upon its dead yesterday. He urged that men should lift up their eyes upon the opportunities for the betterment of our world and for the building of a new brotherhood among men. He pointed out that the church can never meet the needs of such an hour as this without a constantly growing and progressive program. He called upon those present to lift up their eyes to the Redeemer of the world whose cross has become His throne in the building of a great spiritual empire.

The message delivered Monday night was thought by many to be the most significant and searching yet brought by the eloquent preacher. Miss White directed the music in her usual happy and successful way. Miss Olive Baldwin was added to the musical forces at the piano last night. Miss Nettie Kate Evans, who since the beginning of the meeting has been pianist, was leaving for Louisville to enter the conservatory. Miss Evans' services in the meeting have been greatly appreciated and enjoyed. There were two added to the church.

Mr. V. C. Carpenter of Bayamon, Porto Rico, brother of the local minister, was a guest in the meeting last night and led in the devotions. Dr. Simpson speaks today at the high school chapel and makes the chief address at the Rotary Club luncheon.

The service tonight will be at 7:15.

DANVILLE WELCOMES CENTRE BOYS HOME

Danville, Ky., Oct. 24.—Schools and business places closed and all Danville turned out to meet the triumphant though defeated Colonels as they returned from Harvard. The demonstration was enthusiastic as was our last year despite the Colonels' defeat.

The team's management announced that negotiations are under way with Cornell and Columbia for games with them next season. A number of Eastern colleges, including Brown, have invited Centre to play in the East next year.

The defeat at the hands of Harvard on Saturday has stayed with the players and they mourn, not on account of the defeat, but for the poor football they displayed to bring about the result.

That first quarter seemed to be the gruesome nightmare thought that was uppermost in the minds of all. The fact that they outplayed Harvard throughout the remainder of the game brought little consolation. Terry Snowden, who fumbled the ball, which was recovered by a Harvard player and converted into the Crimson's first touchdown, was inconsolable.

Terry told how he lost the pigskin. He was preparing to elude a tackler by means of a left straight arm and shifted the ball to his right. Just as he was doing this another Crimson tackler snatched him from the right and the sudden impact forced the ball from his hands. Snowden is one of the few Centre backs who had failed to fumble this season, and the thought that his initial boot had to come in the most important game of the year has wrought havoc in Terry's soul.

According to several New York newspapers Centre might really have vanquished Harvard had not that terrible first quarter been played. That Harvard only made one down to ten for the Kentuckians in the second half of the game is proof positive that the Colonels had an offensive machine of tremendous force and one that could also hold on the defense. Some critics say that Harvard pulled its best men after the first quarter in order to save them for the Dartmouth game. However, this only goes for Owen. The other first-string backs and clever linemen were in there fighting the Kentuckians and fighting them with the best they had to keep the victory safe. The touchdown that the Colonels scored was made against the Harvard first-string men.

Coach Charley Moran's lock-step shift that the Centre team introduced at Harvard Stadium was both complimented and criticized. One thing is certain, it bewildered the Harvard team and for the entire third quarter the Crimson's failed to smash it successfully. Just when they appeared to solve the formation the Colonels went back to more simple football and shot split-tackle plays through the Crimson's for big gains. Whenever the lock-step shift was used it always worked nicely. The big criticism for the formation is that it takes up a deal of time.

The ex-Kaiser says he was "brought up with the Bible." The Bible, however, appears to have survived the experience without visible injury.

LEXINGTON WOMAN ON TRIAL IN COURT

Mrs. Lula Paul Charged With Attempting To Assist Piercy To Escape

Strong evidence against Mrs. Lula Paul, of Lexington, charged with attempting to assist Lawrence Piercy to escape from the Madison county jail, was introduced by the Commonwealth when her trial was called in circuit court Tuesday morning. Several men who were in jail at the time, said they saw her slip saws and a pistol to Piercy and they testified that on several occasions she brought him whisky and smuggled it in to him. Several of those who testified are now in the penitentiary at Frankfort and were brought back here to testify in the case. Among the witnesses who told of her actions were Buddy Edson, Tom Collins and Will White. Mrs. Paul is being defended by Attorney J. Franklin Wallace, of Lexington. The defense evidence had not been introduced up to the time the Daily Register's report for the day closed.

Eldon Shanks, colored, who killed John Hammond, a L. & N. track man, with a pick over a year ago, was given a life sentence by a jury Monday. Shanks made a getaway at the time, but a few months ago was caught at Hazard and brought back by Sheriff Elmer Deatherage.

MADISON DOCTORS ENDORSE ROAD TAX

Another Madison county organization has gone on record in favor of the special 20 cent road tax upon which the voters will pass on Nov. 7th next.

At the meeting of the Madison County Medical Association last week the doctors present voted unanimously to approve and endorse the road tax so that old Madison may get out of the mud as soon as possible. No one knows better than the physicians the need of good roads. The statement has been frequently made by doctors that many a life has been lost by inability of a physician to get to the sufferer in time, solely because of bad roads.

Reports from all over the county indicate that sentiment is growing rapidly and steadily for the special road tax. "The people appear to be coming to realization of what good roads will mean to them and what it means to have the state pay half the cost of building them.
